Product Description

An infant's vulnerability to shaken baby syndrome (SBS) is powerfully demonstrated with this model. The model's translucent head allows viewers to see how a baby's brain can be harmed. Also emphasizes the importance of supporting an infant's neck. Helps teach prevention of SBS, which can have devastating consequences including permanent brain damage, blindness, and death. Model is 19" long. SBS tear pad also available separately (W43117TP).

Shaken Baby Demonstration Model (1017928 [W43117])

The Shaken Baby Demonstration Model (Item No. 1017928 [W43117], 1.7 kg, 60×31.4×22.2 cm) by WRS Group powerfully demonstrates an infant's vulnerability to shaken baby syndrome (SBS) for parent and caregiver education.

A translucent head that makes the danger visible. The model's translucent head lets viewers see exactly how a baby's brain can be harmed by shaking, turning an abstract warning into a clear, visual demonstration.

Also reinforces safe handling technique. The model emphasizes the importance of properly supporting an infant's neck, connecting the SBS warning to everyday safe-handling practice.

A serious teaching tool for a serious topic. Helps educators and healthcare providers teach SBS prevention, which — left unaddressed — can lead to devastating consequences including permanent brain damage, blindness, and death.

Compact and classroom-ready. The model measures 19" long.

A companion SBS Tear Pad (Item No. W43117TP) is also available separately for supplementary parent education materials — contact us for availability.
