Product Description

This life-size testicle model offers an extremely natural feel. By using SKINlike™ (dermatologically tested), 3B's new high-quality silicon, learning and practicing self-examinations of the testicles becomes even more realistic. The scrotum contains two movable testicles, the epididymi and the spermatic cords for palpation. Two pathological findings can be felt in the left testicle. The front of the model also includes a replica of the beginning of the penis. Supplied with detailed instructions for self-examination and a carrying bag.

Testicle Model (3B Scientific) — Testicular Self-Examination Trainer for India

The Testicle Model (Item No. 1000346 [L60], Brand: 3B Scientific) is a life-size trainer built with SKINlike™, 3B Scientific's dermatologically tested silicone, designed to give an extremely natural feel for teaching and practicing testicular self-examination.

The scrotum contains two movable testicles, complete with epididymi and spermatic cords for realistic palpation. Two pathological findings are built into the left testicle, giving trainees a comparison point between normal and abnormal findings on the same model. A partial replica of the base of the penis is included at the front for anatomical context. The set comes with detailed self-examination instructions and a carrying bag.

Specifications: Dimensions 9 x 8 x 4cm. Weight 0.54kg.
