Why Choose the ACLS (Advanced Cardiac Life Support) Sound Menu for Your Simulation Lab in India?

The ACLS (Advanced Cardiac Life Support) Sound Menu (Item No. 1018182 / W49409, MPN: ST2M-35, 0.07 kg, 16 × 7 × 2 cm) by Nasco Healthcare, USA is a 16-sound arrhythmia auscultation menu card for the W49407 auscultation simulator — expanding the cardiac rhythm recognition training library for ACLS training centres, cardiology nursing programmes, and NMC-mandated simulation labs in India that need a comprehensive arrhythmia curriculum beyond the standard sounds included with the base simulator.

The 16 sounds cover the complete range of rhythms trained in AHA ACLS certification courses: Normal sinus rhythm, Sinus tachycardia, Sinus bradycardia, Supraventricular tachycardia, PACs in NSR, Atrial flutter, Atrial fibrillation, Junctional escape, 1st AV block, 2nd AV block — Wenckebach (Type I), 2nd AV block — Type II, 3rd AV block (complete heart block), PVCs multi-focal, Ventricular tachycardia, VT torsades de pointe, and Ventricular fibrillation — the full shockable and non-shockable rhythm set that ACLS algorithm training requires. Trainees auscultate each rhythm through the simulator and identify it, building the recognition skills required for correct ACLS algorithm selection under time pressure.
