Product Description

This Rescue manikin allows Coast Guards, Lifeguard Trainers and Emergency Personnel to train water rescue and retrieval as well as CPR. The manikin has articulated joints and is made of durable plastic and rust-resistant steel. When filled with water the manikin will submerge to the neck, if an additional 3 or 5 kg (a brick will do) is added, it will sink completely.

CPR Water Rescue Manikin (Adult), 165 cm (Nasco Healthcare) for Combined Rescue & CPR Training in India

The CPR Water Rescue Manikin, Adult (Item No. 149-1328, Brand: Nasco Healthcare, USA) combines full-scale adult water rescue and retrieval training with CPR practice in a single manikin, letting Coast Guards, lifeguard trainers, and emergency personnel run the complete rescue-to-resuscitation sequence without switching equipment.

Built with articulated joints and constructed from durable plastic with rust-resistant steel components, the manikin withstands repeated submersion training. When filled with water, it submerges to the neck; adding 3 to 5 kg of extra weight (such as a brick) sinks it completely, allowing trainers to simulate full-submersion adult rescue scenarios before transitioning directly into CPR practice on the same manikin.

Specifications: Dimensions 165 x 58 x 23 cm. Weight 18 kg. Brand: Nasco Healthcare, USA.

FAQ Q: How is this different from the standard Adult Water Rescue Manikin? A: This version adds CPR training capability, letting trainees practice resuscitation immediately after a simulated rescue, on the same manikin. Compatible replacement airway systems are available separately.

Q: How does the submersion feature work? A: Filled with water, the manikin submerges to the neck; adding 3–5 kg of extra weight sinks it completely for full-submersion rescue drills.
