Why Choose the Injection Site Replacement, Arm for SMART STAT for Your Simulation Lab in India?

The Injection Site Replacement, Arm for SMART STAT (Item No. 101-302) by Nasco Healthcare, USA is a 4-pack of genuine OEM replacement arm injection sites for the adult Simulaids SMART STAT ALS simulator family. Weighing 0.16 kg per pack, this is the correct consumable for maintaining the intramuscular and subcutaneous injection training capability of the SMART STAT arm module — ensuring that the injection site retains accurate tissue resistance and correct anatomical feel for trainees across multiple training sessions.

Injection sites on ALS simulation manikins degrade progressively with each use. Each needle insertion punctures the site material, and over repeated sessions the cumulative damage leads to a site that no longer provides the correct resistance, no longer self-seals adequately, and may allow fluid to track unpredictably. Trainees using a worn injection site are effectively training against incorrect feedback — developing habits around force application and needle angle that will not transfer correctly to real patients. Replacing the arm injection sites regularly with genuine OEM material is therefore a direct investment in training quality, not just equipment maintenance. The 4-pack format provides a practical consumable stock for labs running regular ALS, ACLS, or nursing training sessions on the SMART STAT platform. Only genuine Nasco Healthcare OEM sites are guaranteed to fit the SMART STAT arm module with correct dimensions and material specification.
