Product Description

IV replacement arm skin for the advanced life support (ALS) simulators SMART STAT Basic and Complete.

Why Choose the IV Replacement Arm Skin for SMART STAT ALS Simulators for Your Simulation Lab in India?

The IV Replacement Arm Skin for SMART STAT ALS Simulators (Item No. 140-390) by Nasco Healthcare, USA is the genuine OEM consumable replacement skin designed specifically for the SMART STAT Basic and Complete ALS simulator IV arm. Weighing 0.91 kg, this replacement skin restores the IV arm to its original training condition — ensuring realistic vein access, accurate flashback, and consistent tactile feedback for IV cannulation and intramuscular injection practice sessions. Using worn or degraded arm skin compromises the realism and accuracy of IV training and risks damaging the underlying arm structure. Replacing it with genuine Nasco Healthcare-sourced skin keeps the simulator performing exactly as intended and extends the overall working life of the SMART STAT system.

This consumable is essential for simulation labs and hospitals across India that run high-frequency IV access training sessions. Intensive use — whether for nursing skills certification, ACLS training, or undergraduate clinical skills practice — causes the silicone skin and vein channels to wear over time, reducing the quality of the training experience. Stocking this replacement ensures your IV training arm stays fully functional between sessions without needing to replace the entire simulator arm assembly. It is compatible with both the SMART STAT Basic and SMART STAT Complete ALS simulator configurations.
