Why Choose the Full-Body CPR Manikin with Trauma Options for Your Simulation Lab in India?

The Full-Body CPR Manikin with Trauma Options – Caucasian (Item No. 100-2700) by Nasco Healthcare, USA is a full-body adult CPR and rescue training manikin weighing 21 kg, designed for simulation labs and training programmes that need realistic CPR skill development combined with the option to add moulage-based trauma scenarios. The manikin features lifelike positioning and anatomical landmarks including the sternum, rib cage, substernal notch, and a palpable carotid pulse — giving trainees the tactile reference points they need to develop correct hand placement and CPR technique on a full-body patient.

The standard package ships complete and ready to train immediately: a sweat suit for realistic patient presentation, five mouthpieces, and five airway systems with lungs — providing disposable airway components for multi-trainee sessions with proper hygiene. A Rescue Head is included and can be interchanged with the standard CPR and rescue-breathing head, expanding training capability to rescue breathing scenarios. For labs that need IV access training, an optional IV arm is available separately. The manikin's trauma options capability is activated through a moulage kit — wounds are sold separately — enabling instructors to layer visible injury presentations over the CPR platform for combined CPR and trauma assessment training. For labs that want electronic CPR feedback, an optional electronics upgrade provides an exterior console box that indicates proper hand position, adequate chest compressions, and adequate air volume, without requiring a smartphone or tablet.

This manikin is ideal for BLS certification programmes, nursing and paramedic training institutes, hospital in-service CPR training departments, disaster response team training, and NMC-mandated simulation labs across India that need a durable, full-body CPR and rescue training platform with trauma expandability.
