Spare Skin — For Epidural and Spinal Injection Trainer (P61/1017891)

The Spare Skin (Item No. 1017892 [XP61-001], 0.45 kg) by 3B Scientific is the designated replacement skin for the Epidural and Spinal Injection Trainer (P61/1017891). It's built to be long-lasting and easy to clean, giving institutions a durable, low-maintenance replacement option for a trainer that sees repeated needle insertion during epidural and spinal injection technique practice.

Why this matters for a busy skills lab: epidural and spinal injection training requires precise, repeated needle placement at specific anatomical landmarks. As the skin surface wears from that repeated puncture, layered resistance feedback (skin, ligament, and target space) degrades — this spare skin restores that realism while the easy-clean surface keeps the trainer classroom-ready between sessions without extended downtime.
