Why Choose the 12 Intraosseous Bones with Blood Capsules for Your Simulation Lab in India?

The 12 Intraosseous Bones with Blood Capsules (Item No. 101-092) by Nasco Healthcare, USA is a 0.5 kg pack of 12 genuine OEM replacement intraosseous bones with integrated blood capsules for the Life/form® Intraosseous Infusion Trainer (W44608). The intraosseous bone is the consumable component of the IO trainer that is punctured during needle insertion practice — each bone absorbs the needle track damage from repeated IO access attempts and must be replaced periodically to maintain the correct resistance feedback and the realistic blood flashback that confirms correct intraosseous placement. The blood capsule integrated into each bone releases simulated blood when the IO needle penetrates the cortex correctly, providing the visual confirmation of placement that IO technique training depends on.

For ACLS training centres, paediatric emergency medicine programmes, military and pre-hospital training, and NMC-mandated simulation labs in India running regular IO access training on the W44608 trainer, maintaining a stock of genuine OEM 101-092 replacement bones ensures training is never interrupted by a depleted or over-punctured bone component. A 12-pack provides a practical working stock across multiple training sessions before reordering. IO access is a high-stakes, time-critical emergency skill — the bone resistance and blood flashback feedback that these consumables provide are the two most important training cues for correct technique calibration, and only genuine OEM components guarantee that both are replicated correctly.
