Product Description

This lifelike 3-D trainer provides realistic simulation for proper insertion of an internal electrode for fetal heart monitoring. This three-dimensional model includes the fetal head, lower uterine segment, and cervix made from lifelike materials. The fetal model is encased in a durable plastic case which allows for easy visualization of parts. The fetal head can also be removed to practice fetal spiral electrode application while visualizing the procedure. Also includes one model of cervical dilatation depicting 4 cm of dilatation. All parts are easily removed for washing. Includes lubricant, instructions, and nylon carry case.

Internal Fetal Monitor Trainer (SB48718U)

This lifelike 3D trainer (Item No. SB48718U, 3.63 kg, 14×12.7×21.6 cm) by Nasco Healthcare, USA provides realistic simulation for the proper insertion of an internal electrode for fetal heart monitoring.

A complete 3D representation for hands-on practice. This three-dimensional model includes the fetal head, lower uterine segment, and cervix, all made from lifelike materials, encased in a durable plastic case that allows easy visualization of internal parts.

Removable head for visualized electrode application. The fetal head can be removed to practice fetal spiral electrode application while visualizing the entire procedure.

Includes a cervical dilatation reference point. One model of cervical dilatation depicting 4 cm of dilatation is included alongside the fetal monitor components.

Practical, easy-to-maintain design. All parts are easily removed for washing.

Comes complete with: lubricant, instructions, and a nylon carry case.
