Product Description

The Nose Bleed/Epistaxis Trainer provides realistic simulation for managing severe nasal haemorrhage. Developed with ENT specialists, it allows trainees to practise suction, nasal packing, and cautery with feedback via a light panel. Featuring variable artificial blood flow, it is an essential training tool for ENT and emergency care departments.

Skills

- Developed in conjunction with the ENT Department of Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge
- This interactive model provides a practical test of skill for all those who are required to manage severe nose bleeding
- Strongly recommended for all ENT and Casualty departments
- For training in cautery and nose packing
- Success of cautery, at four sites on septum, identified by light panel (battery included)
- The trainee must identify the bleeding point, clear it by suction and deal with it either by nasal packing or cautery

Features

- The interior of the nose has capillary tubes for delivering artificial blood at variable rates to four sites on the septum
